WOMEN, BUSINESS AND RIGHTS

Providing Gender Lens to Future Leadership

CERTIFICATE COURSE
14 - 20 May 2018

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

The future of businesses is inclusive. Without a gender lens to comprehend the impact of business policies and practices, leadership will be unable to minimise discrimination against women in the workplaces, retain talent, increase profits and make a positive impact to India’s GDP.

The Genpact Centre for Women’s Leadership (GCWL), in collaboration with the Institute for Human Rights and Business (IHRB) and Gender at Work, is offering a week long course that aims to introduce participants to the linkages between women, business, and human rights. The course, a blend of theory and practical guidance, will equip participants with the skills to develop strategies and assess business operations that are consistent with international standards on women’s rights.

GCWL may be able to offer sponsorship to cover the full or partial costs of participation. Sponsorship will include participants’ meals, programme logistics, and administration. Scholarships will be attributed at GCWL’s discretion.

Who Can Apply?
Working Professionals with minimum one year of work experience
Students currently enrolled in a post-graduate degree/diploma

Application Process
All applications must email the following by May 5, 2018:
1. A recent resume (max 2 pages);
2. A completed application form available at https://goo.gl/4o2eP8
3. One letter of recommendation, from your faculty or organisation

Email: gcwl.wbr@ashoka.edu.in